

2025 ChemE Communication Lab Fellowship Application

The ChemE Communication Lab is looking to recruit a new cohort of fellows to join our team this spring. Are you the go-to person in your lab to restructure a manuscript or critique a presentation? Do you value opportunities to mentor and develop others? If so, bring your skills and love of service to the Comm Lab where you will learn how to coach and train your peers to become more effective communicators and engineers.

About the Communication Fellowship:

- Contribute <5 hours/week
- Earn up to $3,000/year
- Participate in a year-long training series on topics like scientific papers, figure design, and job applications
- Learn best practices in feedback, coaching, and mentorship
- Coach peers 1:1 and develop workshops to address community needs
- Train with the Communication Lab Manager and receive deep feedback on your communication and coaching
